AT LAST WEEK'S MEETING...

There were several members in attendance last week that covered a lot of tournament items. Josh Dill was the Ambuc of the Day. Josh is getting married very soon, but will be back from his honeymoon before the tournament starts (whew). Josh is from Brownfield and works in the Lubbock Sports division of Visit Lubbock. During the business portion of the meeting, the club voted to give money to a dance group. The dance group is comprised of disabled children that perform different routines. The routines help increase motor skills, coordination, and are a lot of fun. A thank you card from the family of an AmTryke recipient was passed around. We discussed the Kids Christmas (see box below). The storage shed cleanup will count as our quarterly service project. The club also knocked off five more Trykes off the Wish List. Josh won $40 on Deal or No Deal. The pot is getting pretty big!

Kids Christmas

Kids Christmas is an event that Caprock Ambucs puts on for disabled children and their families. The event gives the disabled children an opportunity to ride horses, meet Santa, and have fun with other children with disabilities. The event is held at Hold Your Horses and puts smiles on a lot of faces.

This week's Reasons why Ambucs is Awesome

1. Kids Christmas
2. Get to know other members better.
3. Voted to give money to a dance group benefitting disabled youth
4. Gave 5 more AmTrykes to people on the Wish List
5. Read a thank you card from the family of a Tryke recipient
