AT LAST WEEK'S MEETING... The membership heard that Gary Johnson wasn't going to be able to tell a joke at the meeting so less than 20 people showed up. Patty Kissko passed out packets for advertising for the Biggest Basketball Tournament on the Planet. The club approved a donation to Caprock MOB Basketball (a basketball organization that is under the direction of our club, hence the Caprock in the name). The club also formally authorized our Ramp Chairperson (fancy title for Gary Johnson) to use proceeds from our tournament to purchase up to $750 per ramp and $5000 for the year to purchase ramp supplies. It was decided that Kids Christmas will be on December 9th, with wrapping on the 8th and shopping on the 7th. Fun Committee had a fun time trying to decide if we were going to tailgate for the OSU game or if we would have a progressive dinner. The Info committee didn't do much because they have the people assigned to get speakers for the rest of the year. The Friendship committee will provide tools to help get visitors to visit the club. No one was brave enough to tell a joke in Gary's absence.

Weather Smack

Today's Lubbock Forecast: High of 90 with 30% humidity and a low of 57. Today's Austin Forecast: High of 104 with 40% humidity and a low of 74.

Wal-Mart stock is down over 4% since last year. Wal-Mart executives cite a poor UT football season last year resulting in less UT sales to bandwagon fans. On a related note, dentists have seen increased business on deferred dental procedures...

Our Club President has offered a suggestion: UT plays TTU every week to get Bobby Clark to show up at the meetings.

When I googled "UT Arrogance", I clicked on the second link that came up. It was a link on the UT website about a study that UT conducted that showed that arrogant people don't use their brain as much. Irony? Click HERE or google UT Arrogance to see site.

It is hard to find funny PC pics of UT fans. For non-PC fun, visit YouTube and search typical UT fan or UT bum.
