Notes from last week's weeks meeting... members enjoyed a good meal with good information. The meeting started with a prayer for several members, including the continued healing of our club president and also for Mindy and her family. There was a quick discussion about basketball. Our speaker was then introduced. Dr. Markus Miller has a lengthy resume and has a great perspective on his occupation. He is the coach of the national champion TTU meat judging team. Dr. Miller spoke about how he uses meat judging to make kids better people. The three areas of emphasis are the pursuit of excellence, striving for honor and to serve selflessly. His team starts practice at 4AM and bonds as a team. Regardless of beliefs, they attend church together. There are 28 people on the team and only a few are counted at the competitions. He gave many examples of past team members that credit their meat judging experiences as a key to their success. Overall, his presentation about working with college students was inspirational in an area that is often maligned. After his speech, the club voted to increase the tournament rainy day CD by $1K. It was also announced that there are 8 tickets available to members/spouses for the annual Alström Banquet on Saturday April 30th at 7 at 4 Bar K. There are 3 pics from prior year banquets below. The meeting ended right on time!
